Under the auspices of the Institute for Historical Justice and Reconciliation (IHJR), leading Israeli and Palestinian scholars coauthored two pioneering volumes on 1948.

The first book entitled "Zoom In, Palestinian Refugees of 1948, Remembrances" explores the role of memory and remembrance in Israeli and Palestinian communities with regard to the Palestinian refugees in 1948.

"Anyone wishing to understand the Israeli-Palestinian conflict must learn the paradoxical lessons contained in this volume" (SARI NUSSEIBEH, president of Al-Quds University)

The second volume 'Two Sides of the Coin, Independence and Nakba 1948' offers contemporary multi-perspectives narratives on the War of 1948 and maps that highlight key events during that time. Beyond being a pioneer exercise, this volume provides a rare opportunity to understand the foundations on which the two communities base their perceptions of the 1948 War.

"What comes out (of this book) is informative, provocative and enlightening" (SALIM TAMARI, Middle East Institute)
